CARNEGIE, Andrew

L. S. Dated July 22, 1898
to Professor Langley

CARNEGIE, Andrew. ALS, 4pp., 8vo, Skibo Castle, n.d. To Lady Aberdeen. He is glad to learn that she is building a retreat. He is also, as "castles are so exhausting." He is certain Lady Aberdeen does the work of many, as "she is what we call 'a hustler'."

He continues: "I have hundreds of applications from many lands, I have to restrict my field. One gift to one means many similar demands. My own fields are extensive. Over thirty millions...already applied & exhaustive demands continue--it is no childs play. I must adhere to my policy no new field until those in hand are supplied. America is naturally first. Then Scotland...Libraries especially...."

"I have read your pamphlet...and it has made almos causus belli between us. You have produced...a class o arguments which I have been trying to bring together on subject of the right of Congress to control suffrage in election of its rulers and further guarantee to a State Republican form of Government by giving to every man in equal rights to representation...I am very much embarra by the supposed fact that some good Republicans (I see Phil. press is out for it) advocate an amendment of the
